REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: With respect to claims 1, 5 and 10, the examiner's rejection was based on changing the bonusing game of Demar to a survey-based bonusing game would have been obvious to one skilled in the art in order to replace the secondary game activity of Demar with that of another known game. However, as mentioned by applicant on pg. 12 of his Brief with respect to claims 1 and 5, the bonus award is a function of how many people answered each displayed answer in the presented survey question. While in the game show of the Family Feud players receive points base upon how many people in the survey gave the same answer that correlate to an amount of money won, this alone would not have made it obvious to make the bonus a "function of how many people" provided the same response in the survey. In making this decision, it was considered that one can pay the bonus award base on many different strategies. For example, one could pay a multiple of the based wager based upon how many answers on the survey they match, could be paid only if they guess the most popular answer on the survey or could be paid only is they guess the top three answers. As such, nowhere in the applied art is it considered fairly taught to pay the bonus based upon a function of how many people provided the same response in the survey. With respect to claim 10, it too does more than substitute one trivia game for that of another. It continues receiving responses until the player fails to guess a correct response. In the game of Family Feud, players on opposing teams take turns in guessing correct responses and they have three "strikes" when it comes to guessing the wrong answer. As such, Family Feud alone does not fairly teach conducting a bonusing game where the player continues guessing until all the correct responses are received or he fails to guess.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
